How Scion's maintenance required system works and what to expect. The sole function of Scion's maintenance required system is as a reminder for the driver to take their car in for an oil change. The computer system tracks the engine miles from the time it was reset, and the light will trigger after 5,000 miles of driving. Since the system is not algorithm-driven like other more advanced maintenance reminder systems, it does not take into account the differences between light ...
